Straw yellow colour with golden hints. Fine perlage and persistent foam, with a bouquet rich in aromatic orange-blossom, peach and apricot scents. Its natural vivacity makes it pleasantly sweet and fresh in the mouth.

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

Serralunga D'Alba is a small town with a population of just over 500. On the summit of its hill is an imposing and unique medieval castle. One of the best known of the 11 Barolo producing towns, it has a special terroir, making its wines unique and highly distinctive all over the world. It is on these gentle hills that the Villadoria cellars are located, with vineyards climbing high up to the west towards the castle. Today, it is Daniele Lanzavecchio who manages the company together with his daughter, Paola.
